EDITORIAL FLINGS

Kaiser Wilhelm is going to get married again this month. Right out of one war into another, it seems.

Many a man's sense of humor permits his wife to imagine herself the boss of the establishment. It might just as well be that way, as the "easiest" way out."

Our modern realistic novelists are giving us some very truthful photographs of sewers and gutters. Meanwhile Nature gives us dawns and sunsets which, if not artistic, are very satisfying and soliciting.

The hoot owl is a mournful bird And wields to hear at night,
He perches on the tree limb And awakens you in fright,
But he is like a lot of men For all his ghastly cries—
His voice is all he has And he is only pocket size.

Dr. Frank Crane, the eminent specialist, says: "God forbid that I should ever own a newspaper or attempt to manage one. It takes vast quantities of both courage and tact than I possess." Strange, indeed that so many others have had the courage (or the foolhardiness) to attempt it!

The wholesale optical association has declared against the return of long skirts for women. This is as mean a thing as when the undertakers' association in convention at Atlantic City after the war passed a resolution asking the government to bring back all the soldiers who were killed in Europe.

The prospect of having turkey for Thanksgiving in the average home is not very flattering at this time, as prices are high and still rising, with a reported shortage in the Southern crop. The Kentucky crop is about normal, but with the shortage elsewhere we shall have to be thankful for a nice fat little hen, with some oysters on the side.

We see in the daily papers that women are more than holding their own just at this time. We note that there are fifteen women being tried in different parts of the country for the murder of men, while only seven men are being tried for the murder of women. Compared with the same week last year it seems the women are gaining at the ratio of two to one.

It has been said by an expert that not one American in fifty can name all the Presidents of the United States in their order. And yet there are hundreds of people right here in Paris who can give the batting averages of all the baseball teams, and call the roll of the moving picture stars and actresses. Nothing is more needed right now than a little honest-to-goodness teaching of American history and tradition.

About the only time the average man and his wife agree is when they agree to get married.

THE EYES AND THE MOVIES

Do the movies hurt the eyes?
"If they do it is usually due to the fact that the eyes themselves are defective.

Years ago, in the days of the nickelodeon, most moving pictures were mechanically imperfect, many of the films giving a sort of a rain storm effect. The machines were not firmly anchored and there was much vibration. Such pictures could easily cause serious eye strain.

The modern moving picture cannot be considered a cause of eye strain. Of course, it should be viewed under favorable conditions. One should not sit on a level lower than the picture, nor too close to the screen, nor outside of an angle of thirty degrees to the plane of the screen. If one sits well back in the house on a level or above the screen and directly in front of the picture there can be no eye-strain if one's eyes are free from defect.

It is safe to say, if your eyes are not comfortable at the movies, your eyes are at fault and not the picture.

The moving picture is a sort of an eye device. If one's eyes are defective, the moving picture discloses that fact.

When we consider that seven people out of every ten have defective eyes we realize the importance of modern optometric work in the conservation of vision.

Better Vision Week is to be observed throughout Kentucky November 6th to 11th. Addresses will be made in the principal cities by leading optometrists.

Dr. R. C. Augustine, Past President of the American Optometric Association, will deliver a series of addresses in a number of cities during this week. Dr. Augustine is the leading exponent of a square deal for the school child and has spoken in more than one hundred and fifty Canadian and American cities.

The Kentucky Optometric Association is sponsoring this great campaign which has for its object the education of our people to the value of vision and the importance of proper eye-care."

NATIONAL HOME FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

American business is soon to have a new $2,500,000 home in the National Capital. Word has just reached the Paris Commercial Club that the contracts have been let for the construction of the building to be occupied as headquarters in Washington by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Work on the building will begin immediately. It is hoped to complete the structure within about twelve months time. Already buildings which occupied the site, including the old home of Daniel Webster, have been razed to make room for the new headquarters.

The corner-stone for the new building was laid recently during the tenth annual meeting held under the auspices of the National Chamber. Present and former Secretaries of the Department of Commerce and leading business men from all over the country participated in the ceremonies. The speakers were Secretary of Commerce and Labor Charles Nagel, L. S. Gillette, chairman of the building committee, Harry A. Wheeler and Joseph H. Defrees, former president of the Chamber.

BOY SWALLOWED ELECTRIC LIGHT BULB

Harry Lee Waterfield, 10-year-old son of Mrs. Lois Waterfield, of Murray, Ky., who swallowed a electric light bulb, while repairing a flash light, has felt no inconvenience from it, although it has been in his stomach several days. The boy placed the bulb in his mouth for safekeeping and swallowed it when his mind became centered on the work of repairing the light.

D'YE MIND THE TIME

When These Things Happened In Paris, As Told in THE NEWS' Files?

DAYS OF AULD LANG SYNE

There's no denying that to most of us there is a certain satisfaction in reviewing the events of long ago, as they are presented to us, either casually or by force of some reminiscence strain of the moment. And to those who lived here in the long ago the recalling of events in the old days of Paris affords a peculiar satisfaction all its own. They, perhaps, more than we who have grown used to the old place, will appreciate these items, taken at random from a copy of THE BOURBON NEWS, of Wednesday, March 23, 1881:

Dr. O. H. Buck, of Ohio, is here on a visit.

Dr. Barnes has been very ill for several days.

Mrs. Gus Pollock has gone on a visit to her mother, at Mayfield, Ky.

Capt. James M. Thomas left yesterday morning for New York, on railroad business.

Dr. Cox, of Lexington, will preach in the Christian church, this city, next Sunday.

Rev. S. F. Taylor, of the Baptist church, preached on "Man's Chief End," on Sunday morning last.

Mrs. John Moreland's farm was bid to $3.50 per acre, at a public renting Saturday, and was taken down.

A Paris wag says, "Off-utt it don't take hard work to climb that legislative Hill, I don't know what it do take."

If you want to vote for the railroad, do so; and if you don't. A great many people expect to don't. Charleston Alexander purchased the Ben Stipp farm in the Clintonville precinct, at $68 per acre, for 140 acres.

As the elephant goes marching around, the band begins to play—thus it is with Hill and the other candidates.

Arthur Keller, recent graduate at a Louisville law school, has located at Shawhan Station, for the practice of his profession.

The legislative canvas is betting warmed up here, and the boys are looking forward to some little excitement instead of the quiet election which was expected.

Frank Harper, of Midway, has priced Ten Broeck, nine years old, by Imp. Phaeton, at $75,000. It is thought some Kentucky editor will soon gobble the roadster up.

The young gentlemen of Cynthia, will give a fashionable hop at Aolian Hall, on Friday night, April 1st, for benefit of Cynthia Orchestra. Admission 1.50.

Kelly Brent, Emmett Dickson, Major John B. Holladay, Frank Armstrong and the other candidates are following the show around at the different precincts.

Dan Dailey, a brakeman on Dick Estep's freight which jumped the track near Maysville, on Monday, fell under the train and got his leg so mashed that amputation was necessary.

Henry Singer has sold his farm of 41 acres, to Matt Howard for $4,000, and will move to Scott county. Mr. Singer, it will be remembered, had to pay big money for striking a mulatto girl of this city.

Senator John S. Williams passed through here Monday with a scrap of old Ireland's banner over his eye, having wept his eyes almost out over the crowning sheep-killing act of little Senator Mahone.

The veteran editor, Col. Craddock, has kept his head to Millersburg unusually hot the past few days. It has been a question of doubt whether it was his soul's salvation, or his heart's pacification, in which he has been so deeply interested.

John C. Young, of Danville, will lecture at the court house to-night and to-morrow night, from "The Lost Arts," and "The Rocks Ahead." He charges fifty cents for the same lecture here that he charges twenty-five cents for at North Middletown.

ty-five cents for at North Middletown.

George Martin, the popular young brakeman on Capt. Johnnie Martin's passenger train, is acting conductor pro tem in Dick Estep's place on the freight train, during Dick's absence while he is off a few days, in consequence of some severe bruises, from the jumping train on Monday.

G. M. Bedford received last Saturday from the Agricultural State Board at Columbus, O., the cup he won last fall on the best herd of cattle bred and owned by exhibitor. This is the first instance we know of where a herd consisting all of one family bred and owned by one man, ever won such honors. Mr. B.'s herd was of the celebrated Duchess of Goodness family. He also received at the same time other cups and pitchers from the Warren county (Ohio) Society.

On Saturday night last, an incendiary made the second and successful attempt at burning the large livery stable rented by James S. Offutt. About 12 o'clock the fire was discovered, but the fire engine broke something, of course, and the flames soon lapped out the inflammable stable, together with the residence adjoining, belonging to Mrs. Kelley. There were seven head of horses consumed in the flames; among them two horses belonging to Henry Turney, one valued at $1,000, one valued at $300, together with his new $300 buggy, $50, sleigh, sulky and several sets of harness; W. B. Smith, three fine horses; Mr. Tipton, of New York, one horse that he gave $200 for a few days ago; Ed. S. Ford, one horse, and Mrs. Kelley, who loses her comfortable two-story brick residence. None of the property was insured. Mr. Offutt lost a large lot of feed, harness and other articles.

H. C. Sharp has been appointed gauger for Clay Bowen's distillery, at Ruddles Mills, and will go on duty this week.

James Haslip, a brakeman on Captain James Winston's freight train had both feet cut off by the cars Thursday last.

Born, on Friday night last, to the wife of T. F. Roche, of Paris, a son—first born.

Douglas Thomas, North Middletown, Ky., has sold to G. N. Brageld, Chicago, Ill., the chestnut gelding See Saw, by Daribay, dam by American Clay. Record 2:27, and price $3,000.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS HOLD OFFICE TO 1923.

The 1922 act relating to the election of school trustees repeals the 1920 act and school commissioners now in office will hold until the provisions of the 1922 act become operative in 1923, the Court of Appeals held in overruling the motion to dissolve the temporary injunction granted Nick Reid in the Bath Circuit Court enjoining County Clerk Cole Barnes placing the names of candidates on the ballot.

The order was written by Judge Ernest Clarke and was concurred in by Chief Justice Rollin Hurt and Judges Gus Thomas and Chas. Moorman.

Judge Clarke held that the clerk had no authority to place the name of candidates on the ballot for the November election and that the Circuit Judge of Bath county did right in issuing the restraining order. Judge Clarke also held that the present incumbent who was elected for two years and until his successor "shall have been elected and qualified" under the act of 1920, will remain in office until the act of 1922, which divides the counties into new districts, becomes operative.

"Me's" Arrival.

Barbara had been named for her grandmother and an aunt in Wisconsin. On one occasion while visiting in the North, she saw her Aunt Barbara coming up the street. She ran gleefully into the house, exclaiming, "Oh, mother, here comes my auntie me."

Just History

In '76
The Colonial Dame
Spun her cloth
By Candle flame.

In 1860
In Crinoline bright,
She greeted her guests
By Coal Oil light.

And later on,
How time does pass
Her home was lit
By flickering Gas.

But the girl of to-day
Who wants her home bright,
Just presses a button
And has Electric light.
